Revenue by store location over time

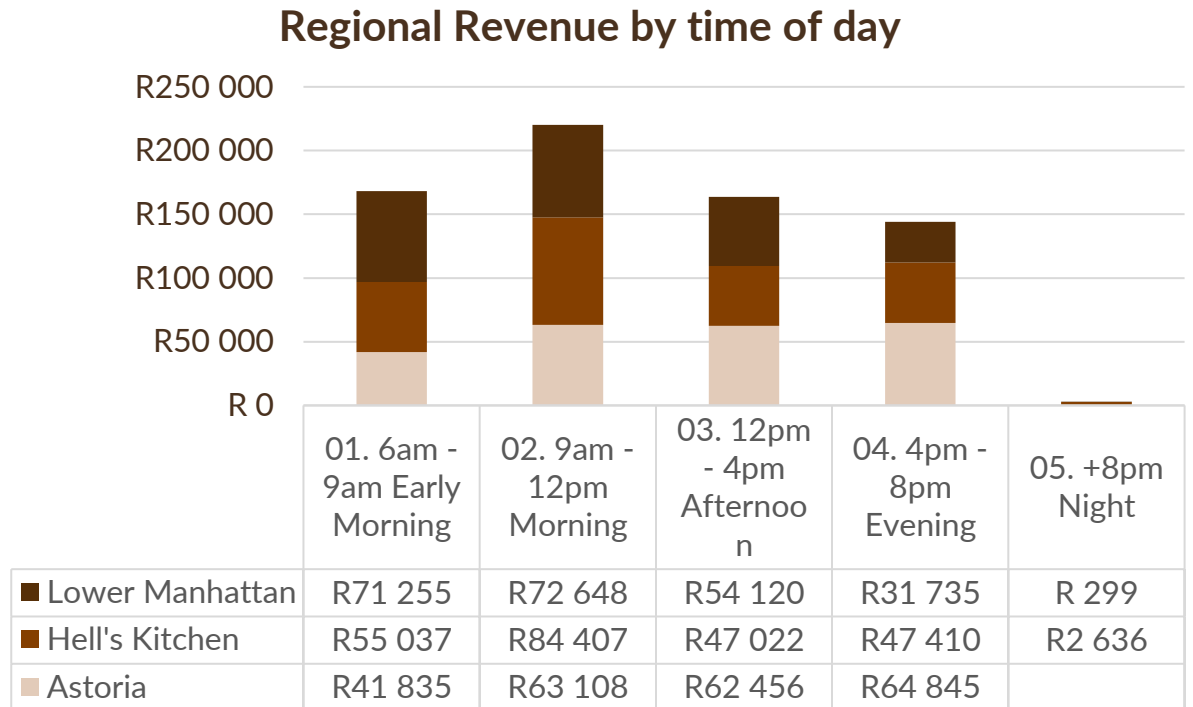

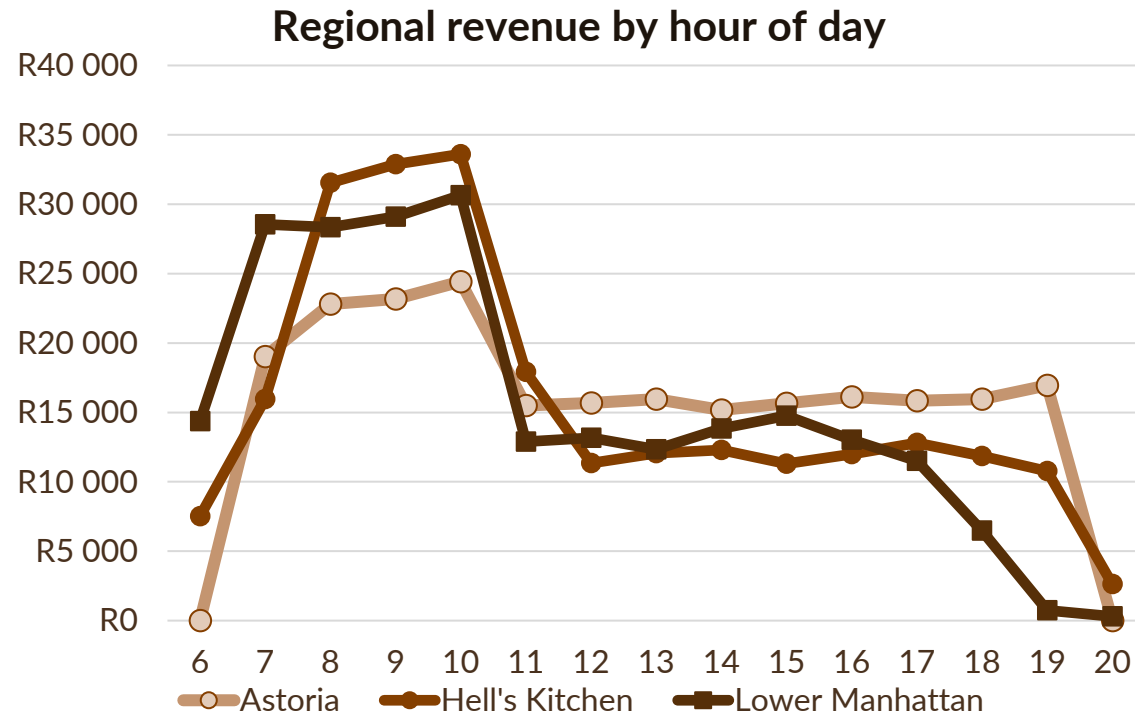

All locations more than doubled their revenue over the 6 months period. Hell's Kitchen showed the highest percentage growth of approximately 134%, followed closely by Lower Manhattan (approximately 130%), and Astoria also showing a strong growth (approximately 103%).

REVENUE BY STORE LOCATION & DAY OF WEEK

Weekends account for 28% of total revenue, while weekdays contribute the majority at 72%. This indicates that the business sees significantly higher sales during the week compared to weekends. There are noticeable fluctuations in revenue by location and day, with some locations performing better at specific days. For example, Hell's Kitchen best performing days are Tuesdays and Fridays.

REVENUE BY STORE LOCATION & TIME OF DAY

All three locations experience their highest revenue between 8-11am. The highest hour of the day is 10am for all three locations. Revenue drops off significantly after 4pm, with all locations seeing their lowest figures in the 4pm–8pm.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Focus on Peak Hours

Allocate more staff and resources during the late morning (especially around 10:00 AM), as this is the busiest and most profitable time across all locations.

Leverage Top-Selling Products

Continue to promote coffee and tea, which together contribute 67% of total revenue, and highlight the top 10 best-selling products in marketing and in-store displays.

Optimise for Weekday Sales

Since weekdays account for the majority of revenue, ensure operations, inventory, and promotions are tailored to maximise weekday performance.

Boost Evening Sales

Explore new offers, events, or targeted promotions to increase revenue during the quieter evening hours (after 4pm)..
